- B-3 1. Of the Norwegians and Danes who volunteered in 1946 for labor battalions in Yugoslavia, about 200 remained in that country to join an international brigade. According to one source, this group includes three former Lieutenants of the Danish Army. (Washington Comment: This is possibly the "Volga Brigade" reported in SO-8093.)
- B-3 2. No volunteers for this brigade are known to have left either Denmark, Norway, or Sweden. Furthermore it is reported that there have been no desertions from the Danish or Norwegian occupation forces in Germany.
- B-3 3. No high-ranking officers of the Norwegian Army are known to be supporters of Communism, nor have any escaped Norwegian Nazis been so identified.
